TO ALL PRINCETONIANS—Young and Old, “Old” and “New”

Because this letter, addressed to the President of Princeton Hospital's Board of Trustees by a thinking, long-time Princetonian, is essentially an open letter, or challenge, to the Princeton Community, it is reprinted here on TOWN TOPICS' front page as a service to the Hospital and to all those whom it serves.

December 17, 1956

MR. JOHN H. WALLACE, JR.
PRINCETON HOSPITAL
PRINCETON, N. J.

Dear Mr. Wallace:

I have your letter about the fund of $491,000 that you must raise for the additional beds in the Princeton Hospital. I hereby pledge a gift of $100,000 to this fund if the Princeton Hospital is able to raise the remaining amount of $391,000 by January 1, 1958. If this is not accomplished my offer is void.

The offer is made in this form for the following reasons. Those of us who have long been residents of Princeton (I came here in 1904) know that the present need for additional beds comes only because of the unprecedented influx of new people and new corporations to this community in the last few years. Without this large expansion of population the Princeton Hospital would have been adequate for our needs.

Over the years I have found that the old residents of Princeton have never failed to meet the legitimate demands of the town, and I am sure that in this case they will, as always, respond to a call that is vital to all of their families. Without them the fund raising project could not possibly succeed, for the newer arrivals could not, alone, meet the problem. Correspondingly, the more recent households and corporations must not assume that the older inhabitants can take on, in its entirety, the load upon the hospital that they brought about. I have every confidence that our new friends will do their share and my contribution is made so that the gift from each one will be less difficult.

One thing is sure. If newcomers do not meet this challenge they will have no reason to complain if the overcrowded condition of the hospital makes it impossible to receive them as patients.

Yours very sincerely,

Gerard B. Lambert

CHRISTMAS, 1956

Presents and Prayers. Like most of America, Princeton will greet Christmas, 1956, with mixed emotions. The guns in a far-off, unfamiliar place called Port Said will sound as audible as the jingle of Santa's sleigh bells, ringing him in from the far-off but familiar North Pole. Thoughts of sugar plums will be no more pronounced than thoughts of homeless Hungarians who need Christmas most.

For Princeton, like many another American town, proved again during 1956 that it has a heart. It has rallied to help solve the problems of people who can hope but cannot help themselves. It has indicated time and time again that it is the kind of town that celebrates Christmas in a twofold manner — with prayers as well as presents.

New churches grew and old churches expanded in Princeton during 1956, as Princeton experienced much the same fervent religious feeling as other areas.
All of them will be crowded this Christmas, some filled to capacity for the first time. And, in all of them, there will be heartfelt prayers for fellow men who are unable to share the same joy on this most sacred of holidays.

New stores also grew in Princeton during 1956, and many new faces joined the Princeton family by moving into new homes in the community. Trees will shine brightly in almost every Princeton home, with the foot of each surrounded by gaily wrapped packages — many of them, judging from the crowds of shoppers around town in recent weeks.

CALL 1848

And, in all of Princeton's homes, there will be happy children, gifts
symbolizing the spirit of the day, rejoicing.

May Not Be White. While excited Princeton youngsters will be looking for snow in time for a white Christmas, they may have to settle for toys and good fun.
For December to date has been unseasonably warm, in sharp contrast to last December's dry, cold days, and not at all conducive to snowfall by the storied 25th.

As a matter of fact, the U.S.
weatherman reported this week that December, 1956, has averaged temperatures of 46 to 47 degrees, more than 10 above the normal for the period and some 16 above the comparable dates a year ago. Flowering quince in front of the Nassau Tavern have bloomed to confirm the strange, unpredictable situation.

Rainfall for December has been considerably ahead of schedule, too, as Princeton realizes full well, and chances appear better for a damp Christmas than a white one.
Through midweek, the area had accumulated 2.45 inches of precipitation for the month, almost a full inch over the average for the 19-day period and just .33 of an inch away from the normal for the entire month. The weatherman figured December, 1956, might climb high in the record books, though nowhere near the 6.08 inches that fell and caused floods back in 1948.

Princeton police admitted they were anxious to welcome a dry Christmas, for wet conditions already had contributed to one serious holiday accident. Robert L.
Wilson, 30, of Trenton, skidded last Friday as he passed another car on Mercer Street, lost control of his auto, traveled 55 feet, struck a tree in Battle Park, spun another 63 feet and was thrown from the vehicle. The driver, still in "critical" shape at Princeton Hospital, suffered a punctured lung, several fractured ribs and multiple cuts and abrasions. His wife, Gloria, a passenger, was not seriously hurt.

Shakespearean Handbook and such titles as "Shakespearean Comedy" and "A Short View of Elizabethan Drama." Earlier in the week, fellow scholars and former students gathered at the Nassau Club and to their distinguished colleague and mentor, who theoretically "retired" in 1935, presented a case of vintage champagne.

James Edward Davis, 30 Nassau Street, for whom Christmas came early and unexpectedly in the form of $10,000, no-strings-attached grant from the Chicago-headquartered Graham Foundation for Advanced Studies in Fine Arts. Marking the first time that the "highest foreheads" in American art have conferred a major award upon a "film-maker," the grant, or fellowship, will permit the 55-year old Davis to continue with his brilliant and strikingly successful work with motion picture film as an art medium, permitting the artist to break what Davis terms the "stranglehold of static reality."

ROUND-UP

Just four more shopping days until you-know-what. . . But, before that long-awaited Yule day, the Princeton University Chapel Choir will join with the Sarah Lawrence Chorus over ABC Radio at 8 p. m. this Thursday, under the direction of Professor Carl Weinrich, to present the same Christmas program that was offered here last weekend. . . Speaking of Christmas singing, the Columbus Boychoir also will render its annual Yule selections for the benefit of Princeton Kiwanians and their wives at noon this Thursday in the Nassau Tavern. . . Music, not necessarily seasonal but all-year-round, is now the order of the day (every day) in the new Princeton High gym, where a wonderful hi-fi set pipes popular melodies to dance throngs or fans waiting for basketball action. . . And music to the ears of late-doers will be the news that the Post Office will remain open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. each weekday until Christmas, including Saturday, and the carriers will deliver again this Sunday.

Christmas-shopping seems to be good at the Shopping Center, and apparently some newcomers want to get in on next year's business. . . The Mall's northeast store, once occupied by Robinson's, has been rented to a dress shop and, reportedly, the southeast store, now the home of the Shopping Center Newsroom, will soon be taken over by another unknown outfit. . . Penns Neckers can look forward to dialing Princetonians a year hence as the dial cable at the bottom of Lake Carnegie, connecting the two areas, was laid successfully earlier this week. . . Congratulations to George J. Sanders, Province Line Road, and DeWitt J. Boice Jr., Princeton-Lawrenceville Road, for bagging a handsome 200-pound buck in Princeton Township. . . For readers who are curious about what to buy their first-grade youngsters, some excellent suggestions can be found in Question of the Week, page 19. . .

The Lt. Frank T. Bird Fund, to sponsor an education for the late police officer's two children, is progressing well and friends of the lieutenant, who have not donated to date, are again asked to leave their contributions at Borough Hall. . . By the way, Borough and Township employees (except for emergency crews) will enjoy a four-day holiday vacation starting Saturday. . . Speaking of the two Princeton municipalities, the year-end report of Borough Engineer I. Russell Riker indicates the growth difference between the two areas in the fact that, as of mid-October, the Borough had issued 34 building permits in '56 as opposed to the Township's 135. . . The report also noted that the Borough's first application of the "look-alike" ordinance, while far from perfect, showed a marked improvement (at Hamilton Terrace) over what might have developed without it. . . Classified ad of the week: an offer to rent or sell a rare, old papier mache Santa Claus, 56" high.

GEORGE WASHINGTON NEVER CREPT HERE: The long-heralded, half-mile journey of historic Rockingham, necessitated by blasting operations in nearby Kingston Trap Rock Quarry, was accomplished this week. Slowly but surely, William Adamowitz & Sons of Hillside moved the 13-room, 200-ton cargo up the highway that connects Rocky Hill with Route 27. Here, the photographer caught the low-riding house (vintage 1734) during a mid-day lull on Monday at the intersection with the road to Kingston. Fog that afternoon prevented completion of the delicate task in one day, but the wood frame structure, built of mud, straw and wooden pegs, was placed on its new site Tuesday. No estimate of the moving cost has been made, though the estate considered it worthwhile at any cost (and the quarry company agreed to pay the bill) because George Washington slept in Rockingham in 1783 and delivered his farewell address to his troops from it. A Time to Help

From the 1956 TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund appeal:

"Four appealing children, the oldest of whom is 13, are constantly aware of the spectres of cold and hunger as their mother struggles onward. Somehow or other their father felt that he could solve everything by turning his back on reality and his family. The same applies to Mrs. S and her five, who occasionally must ask for food and 'some second-hand clothing.' Mrs. X works far into the evenings and worries not about the hours, or her health, but about not being home when the little boys seem to need me most."

Five days before Christmas, the fund stood at $17,121.7. Additional gifts are needed to make sure that the children in homes where funds are wholly insufficient for basic necessities (to say nothing of Christmas), have an opportunity to lead normal lives. In some instances, the Family Service Agency reports, a helping hand lent now will mean the difference of a lifetime.

Gifts may be sent to TOWN TOPICS, Post Office Box 664; left at its office, 4 Mercer Street, or at Hinkson's, 74 Nassau Street. Checks should be made payable to the TOWN TOPICS Christmas Fund.

"CHALLENGE GIFT"

Deadlines a Year Away. A challenge of the sort on which the Princeton community apparently thrives - to the benefit of the entire Princeton community - was issued this week by Gerard B. Lambert, widely-known industrialist lately turned author, whose home is on Province Line Road. If his offer to help Princeton Hospital expand proves as successful as it has in the past, the acute danger of a severe hospital bed shortage currently confronting the community will be on its way toward long-range solution.

As reported in a letter of sufficient dramatic impact to warrant its presentation in unprecedented manner on this week's cover of TOWN TOPICS, Mr. Lambert has pledged $100,000 toward the hospital's $491,000 goal. His "challenge" exists in that the Princeton community must raise the remaining $391,000 by January 1, 1958 - otherwise, his pledge becomes void.

John H. Wallace, Jr., president of the Hospital's Board of Trustees, is of the belief that Mr. Lambert's action "insures the ultimate success of the drive by giving the whole community the lift it now needs in alleviating the critical shortage of hospital beds." He spoke with great enthusiasm of Mr. Lambert's generosity, crediting him with "doing more for Princeton Hospital and many of the Princeton organizations than any other living Princetonian."

Seven years ago, Mr. Lambert gave $100,000 to the hospital's modernization program, with the grateful trustees naming the new nurses' home Lambert House in memory of his son, the late Gerard B. Lambert, Jr. A year later, Mr. Lambert made his first "challenge gift" of $100,000 and the community put the expansion drive over

As a major step in its forthcoming campaign, the hospital trustees have named Abbridge C. Smith, 34, to head the Special Gifts Committee. A member of the board since 1950, Mr. Smith is active in numerous community organizations. He is a member of the New York City law firm of Humes, Smith and Andrews and also maintains offices here at 37 Mulish Street.

RE-APPRAISAL

Borough Completes Interviews. Edward G. Warren, Borough assessor, settled down this week to weigh assessment figures for 1957, fully aware that he must determine his schedule and submit it to county officials by January 10. Despite the difficult nature of the job this year and the brief time remaining before his deadline, the assessor said he is confident he will make it with room to spare. Gordon Blackadar, representing the Clemishaw group that recently completed a re-appraisal survey in the Borough, finished interviewing more than 150 residents on Monday of the 230-plus who wrote letters protesting their new appraisal figures. "All but one Princetonian seemed fairly well satisfied with their figures after they were explained," Mr. Warren observed.

While admitting that some persons probably will challenge the desirability of such a move, the assessor said he will continue with his previously-announced plan to base 1957 assessment figures on a ratio of about one-third of the re-appraisal amounts. Presuming that the Borough's budget will be similar to this year's total, the new tax rate probably will be pretty close to this year's, too.

In the Township, where the Clemishaw group was scheduled to complete its re-appraisal survey and mail new figures to all property-owners by the end of the week, public hearings on the figures will be conducted at Township Hall from 1 to 9 p.m., December 26, 27 and 28. Township Assessor Stuart Robson will then face the back-breaking task of determining 1957 assessment rates in his municipality by the same county deadline.

HOUSING SHORTAGE

Five Families Need Homes. Three additional families in the Alexander Street Extension Veterans Homes reported this week that they face eviction on December 31 and have no prospect of finding another place to live. On a basis of information made available at Borough Hall, TOWN Topics reported last Thursday that two of the eight families living there would be homeless as of New Year's Day, but now three others report themselves in the same plight.

Declaring that "our every effort is frustrated," the families comment in a letter to Town Topics:

"We have been judged in an income bracket too high for acceptance into the City Street Project. And being Negroes we have found homes that are for rent or sale in all but one section of the city closed to us."

Their statement continues: "Our prime object in writing this letter is to clear up the discrepancy in last week's news item and to let anyone who can offer us any information or advice concerning our next move. Believe us, we need it!"

The letter carried the signatures of Mrs. Albert Taylor, Mrs. Rosalie Wood and Mrs. Gloria Moore, Borough and Township officials report that "we are doing all we can to solve the problem," adding that the final decision on whether the homes must be demolished rests with the State.

Built almost a decade ago, the eight dwellings were considered temporary in nature and were scheduled for demolition five years after they were erected. Twice since that time, the State has agreed to continue their existence, but it is not currently known whether additional time will be granted.

CAROL SING MONDAY

Traditional Celebration Set. The Princeton community's annual Christmas party, sponsored by the Princeton Lions Club and Princeton Municipal Improvement, Inc., will be held Christmas Eve on Palmer Square. For the first time in the 18-year history of the affair, Santa Claus will be provided with a microphone at the top of the chimney so that his voice may be heard extending Yule greetings before he descends the chimney.

The program will begin at 5:15 p.m. with special Christmas movies for the children at the Princeton Playhouse, while the Christmas music program will begin at 8:30. At 8:45 in the rear of the —Continued on Page 9

TRIANGLE SHOW

Fine Tradition Upheld. "Take A Gander!" — the 65th presentation of Princeton University's Triangle Club—is now well in the throes of a madcap 16-city itinerary after opening successfully at McCarter Theatre a week ago. And, if the first nighters here were not wholly untypical of Triangle viewers or over-generous because they were first nighters, the 60-member "Gander!" troupe is enjoying its trip.

The 1956 production boasts numerous outstanding elements, representative of Triangle's fine tradition. Its choreography, again the fancy footwork of Peter Hamilton, is professional in the best sense of the word, and possibly the most adroit ever staged by a Triangle company. Frank Brady's lavish costumes and Jerome Press' bright, imaginative settings add tremendous glitter to the show, giving it an always-gay lift.

But, as might be guessed, all that glitter is not gold. Even in a musical comedy with a story whose central character is a goose that lays golden eggs—eggs which prove to be real gold for the fools about her, not fool's gold for the ganders who are mad about her.

For one thing, the musical score is pretty standard, enhanced more by the chorus and its polished antics than by the music and lyrics. For another, the book, while trying hard to emulate a Broadway musical, falls short of the mark. Its authors and collaborators deserve much credit for sticking by their guns and concocting an off-beat (for Triangle) approach, but, in addition in getting tripped up by its own goose steps because of its anguishing length and anguishing devotion to goose problems, the show seems to cook its own goose with its all-too-deliberate avoidance of Princeton references and its all-out avoidance of the foul in favor of the fowl.

Cast Generally Strong. Making the most of some amusing situations in "Gander!" and some topical if not side-splitting gags, the cast's principal performers give the two-act extravaganza generally strong support. Ted James, Triangle secretary, is particularly impressive as Estelle Grimshaw, a harassed suburban maid, and stops the show with his own novelty song, "The Tricks of the Trade." Duncan Hoxworth as Edna Walters, the military housewife who can't forget the WAC training that made her WAGier, and Bon Lomardi as Charlotte, the golden goose who seeks to take a gander, also are notable comic assets.

Less effective is Bob Leahy as Walter Walters, henpecked husband and the show's No. 1 straight man, or at least he played in sub-par fashion for an important "lead" on opening night. His reditons of the two top ual-lads are big moments in the production; yet, he didn't have the voice to handle them the first evening, and there's a chance one of them ("Something's Going to Happen") might be quite an appealing tune.

Several of the production numbers are done so well that the imperfections of other efforts are overshadowed. "Glad to Be Alive

Day" is a wonderfully frantic dance-song creation that affords the expertly trained chorus full range in the first act, and actually puts the audience in a happy mood that continues. "Goose Lagoon," the much-publicized parody of "Swan Lake," is a splendid piece of ballet buffoonery, highlighting the second act if not the entire show.

"Gander!" contains the customary dose of eyecatching novelty numbers, too. In the opening act, for example, Bruce Rabbino, Ted Jones and Gerry Raibourn are deft and delightful as a trio of government assayers in "Facts, Facts, Facts." In the second act, Charlotte the goose and Joe, the gander who finally gives her goosepimples (played by Dick Johnson), offer "Maybe That's Why," a clever duet that deserves the curtain calls it receives.

Others Rate Plaudits. Throughout the 1956 Triangle production, there are names and faces that rate critical nods; in fact, they are too many in number. But Milton Lyon, the director, cannot be overlooked, nor can John Osander, Triangle president who wrote lyrics to seven songs and sparked the entire presentation; Harry Pierpont, who again prepared orchestrations and coached the 18-member orchestra; and J. Byron Bell Jr., who, as technical director, headed the production staff.

Also deserving of mention are some of the unforgettable "extra special" touches. Perhaps most memorable is the "take-off" on "Your Hit Parade," a very funny series of TV panels called "Your Smash Parade," complete with Remak Ramsay's interpretation of "Dave Carraway" and Fred Wardenburg's amusing Dr. Grunther." Other salutes go to "Montage," an elaborate satire on various cine-moguls, and this year's Triangle program, "The Ploybill," published by the Princeton Tiger board. "Take A Gander!" is not the best Triangle Show, of greater importance, it is far better than the worst. It is well worth the price of admission — it is fun, it is different, it is tradition — and, despite its innovations, it's still Triangle.

New Additions to "Mimi." Three new members of the cast of "Mimi Lights the Candle," the Buskins & Socks Christmas play, have been named. They are Kitty Gulliksen, who will play one of Mrs. Randall's daughters, and Tyler Gatchell and Donald McLean, who will open the show as the two choir boys.

The play will be given in Murray Theatre on the Princeton University campus Friday and Saturday nights at 8 o'clock. A Christmas play for all ages, the show is being offered by the high school and college age drama group of Princeton to benefit the Hungarian Relief Fund.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Mountain (Dec. 20-24), a near-impassable one in the French Alps, photographs beautifully and hair-raisingly in Technicolor and Vista-Vision, and also serves as a perfect site for a taut and tense drama from master craftsman Edward Dmytryk, producer as well as director of this box-office avalanche prompter. Spencer Tracy, emerging from retirement after years of renown as a mountain climber to climb anew, represents man's good qualities and, in the representation, bids fair to collect another Academy Award for himself. Robert Wagner, playing Tracy's younger brother, personifies the badness of our oft-greedy world and, though no Oscars are in prospect, he does a lot better than usual, attaining new performance heights up among the clouds and perilous peaks.

Claire Trevor isn't on screen very long, but she's fine whenever she's there.

Hollywood or Bust (Dec. 25-29) probably should have been titled "Hollywood and Bust," for, since the filming, musicomedian Dean Martin and his decade-long sidekick, Jerry Lewis, have headed down separate career trails. But, be that as it may, this picture — presumably their last together — will serve as a holiday delight for Martin and Lewis admirers. The usual Jerry-meanderings, which carry the gifted comic to movie-land by way of Las Vegas and other less profitable places, generate the most laughs, though a capable supporting cast, including Anita Ekberg, Pat Crowley and Maxie Rosenbloom, has its moments, too. Dean hasn't been given top-grade song material in this one, and some of the boys' routines wear that worn-out look, but, what with Technicolor and VistaVision, there's almost enough tinsel to hide the broken ornaments on Paramount's Christmas tree.

THE GARDEN

Davy Crockett and the River Pirates (Dec. 20-22) is something of a cinemiracle in that it turns out to be a sequel that's equal. Not that it is expected to add to Americana with the now-legendary impact of the original, especially in view of the edge taken off the story by its repetition on television, but it is a wholly worthwhile product, aimed primarily at the younger set, in the true Walt Disney tradition. Fess Parker and Buddy Ebsen again portray Davy and his pal, moving from adventure on the frontier to adventure on the river, and, as a well-added attraction, Jeff York plays their keel boat rival with considerable appeal.

The Ship That Died of Shame (Dec. 25-29) is a well-written, well-directed, fast-paced British movie that does justice to Nicholas ("The Cruel Sea") Monsarrat's Saturday Evening Post Saga of the sea. It spins with sincerity and forcefulness, the tale of a heroic wartime motor gunboat which proceeds rapidly and willingly off-course as soon as the fighting is over. First, the conscienceless owner and crew settle for smuggling nylons and liquor; then they trade in the blacker market of gun-running, corpse-dispatching and ferrying murderers back and forth across the English Channel. Richard Attenborough, popular on this side of the Atlantic, maintains his customary high standards as the ship's shifty owner, and George Baker, in his first starring role, exhibits a great deal of box-office promise.

"Take a Gander." Or a fat capon. A crackling skinned duck, or a Smithfield ham. A lardy 20-pound turkey if you have a fine Revolutionary house, or a 5-pound Beltsville if you're ranch style. Now plan your Christmas feast from there.

Buy your Christmas goose this year from the Food Mart, 20 Witterspoon. Capons in this market will be 45c a pound. And there's a duckling and a Smithfield ham, too. As you know, Food Mart will do your Christmas cooking for you—the bird or the ham—if you give them notice ahead of time.

Cornish game hens, turkey, ducks and capons—all from Bovino's, 39 Leigh Avenue. You can buy fresh chestnuts here and at Union Food, 205 Witterspoon, for that special stuffing. Price on chestnuts is about 23c-25c a pound. Davidson's market has canned chestnuts and an extra specialty—canned wild rice, already cooked, for your best stinging recipe.

For dessert, there's a new can of crepes suzette for $1.10 at Davidson's, or some of Breyer's Holiday Pudding Ice-cream from Cox' Delicatessen, 182 Nassau. This "pudding ice-cream" is vanilla with a full load of fruits added.

Your holiday fruit-cake, for giving or serving, can be a 2-pounder from Davidson's for only 95c, or a brandy-laden piece of magnificence by Charlotte Charles, at Nassau Del. (45 Palmer Square) or Princeton. Gourmet, Nassau and Harrison.

Davidson also has a handsome Wedgewood box of cake at $3.95 for two and one-half pounds. The Crosse and Blackwell favorite appears at Union, Bovino's, and Schaefer's Market, 350 Nassau (at Harrison). A two-pound C. & B. cake is about $2.50.

Long-Distance Bite

The Nassau Delicatessen reminds its customers, present and potential, of the Teledol plan.

Stop at the shop (45 Palmer Square) and pick and choose the cheese, candy, or delicacy you want. Through its connections with Teledol, the Del. will have your choice delivered anywhere you like in the United States or Canada. The Del., of course, simply sends a telegram to the distributor nearest the address on your gift, and the present is delivered almost immediately.

There is no additional charge for this service; in fact, the Del. points out that you actually save money because you don't have to pay postage on heavy canned goods. And it can save you money because, too, in case you have some last-minute memory of a gift you forgot.

Food Mart patrons may buy a pre-sliced cake. It's by Freihofer, at $3.95 for two and a-half pounds.

There are many other Christmas cookies and cakes to pile on your sideboard for holiday munching. Huntley and Palmer has a tin of biscuits in that impeccable British tradition. They are $3.59 at Davidson's, in a round box with a projection of the globe on its cover. A fine last-minute gift.

Gourmet has an English biscuit, too. It's from the Carr bakeries, and it's designed especially to sustain a slice of cheese. There are several kinds of biscuits in this box, various shapes and sizes, all dedicated to cheese. (Plenty of that, too, but we'll come to cheddar later.)

Pepperidge Farm has turned its fine bread hand to the making of cookies. These are available at Cox and Bovino's in a "Monte Carlo" assortment of rich tea wafers—79c—or a box of look-alikes for 59c. The cookie of the season at Nassau Del. is the Dresdener Christollen, in large or small box.

Permissions and Grasshoppers. Fruit baskets and exotic delicacies are delightful gifts—for the right one on your last-minute list. The Food Mart will make up fruit baskets, including some glowing permissions if you like. Bovino's has a fruit-basket from $5. Schaefer's Market will compose a still-life with basket, using fruit of the best quality, and tucking in a kumquat here and there.

Gift boxes at Bovino's come from Crosse and Blackwell and contain fruit cake, daisy-roll, jam, short-bread, milk chocolate, all for $5.50. Packaged delicacies at Gourmet are from the kitchens of Charlotte Charles. Buy a big wooden tub, in a rich dark wood and present it to someone who likes brandied cherry sauce, fruit cake, sugar cookies, and a kind of little cake called a frosted Daiquiri. The tub and its contents—$15.25—and there are nine different things, in case we've forgotten a few.

It's New To Us

For the cook with a flair for the far East, Gourmet has a $3.95 set called "Chinese Gourmet." It holds mysterious bottles of black bean spice, duck sauce, oyster sauce, Chinese mustard and a very large folder of recipes.

And for somebody—you'll have to decide who—Gourmet thinks that a can of grasshoppers, a covey of quail eggs, a Mexican friend worm or two, and a jar of cockles (but not "rains" silvers!) might be just the stuffer for a stocking.

A more conservative gift would be Nassau Del's tea pots, filled with tea, ten canisters or taster packages. This specialty shop, brimming with sugar and spice this year, also suggests a bucket of Charlotte Charles strawberry preserves.

Herkimer County, New York, provides the cheese of the year for the Nassau Del. This American cheddar comes in a sturdy round box about six inches high. A four-pound ball of Edam is wrapped in a golden foil that makes it look like a sun. Cheese wheels in this shop start at $1.75 or so, with little wedges of cheddar and blue, tubes of roquefort, gorgonzola, some with wine, some plain and pure.

Fromage Maison is the favorite at Gourmet patrons, year after year. Try it, or some of the good brie, with those English biscuits we mentioned above. Little crooks—useful and decorative—hold several cheeses in wine. Gourmet has Stilton, Edam, roquefort, and cheddar from 75c to $1.25.

Romano, the cavaliar man, now has Neuchatel although he doesn't tell us what kind of sturgeon produces cheese, of all things. It's a cocktail spread with a Neuchatel base and it comes in that familiar little jar for 80c at Gourmet. Other cheese in the special cheese cupboard at Gourmet include assortments with smoked, natural and processed varieties.

Davidson's offers Christmas customers a 10-inch cheese wheel with Swiss and Gruyere combinations.

As Sweet as Sweet, The Lucullan sweetmeat of the year is from Italy, where they probably eat it in the drenching sun on the terrace of some Mediterranean villa. It's a whole bunch of real grapes, white, red, or green, crystallized and packed with its own leaves. $3.75 at Nassau Del.

Italy also sends Tortone, the nougat candy, to the Del. In fact, this shop has candies and choco-

A Ticket for Christmas

The quartet of plays that will be performed for Princeton's youngest theatergoers, will begin on January 14 with "The Merry - Go-Rounders." These children's entertainments are sponsored by the Borough P.T.A. and we suggest that you give a set of all four tickets to one of the young stockings on your list.

Other productions, spaced throughout the spring, include "Pinocchio," "The Pied Piper" and the Princeton Ballet Society's "Sleeping Beauty." You may make arrangements for season tickets by calling Mrs. Albert A. Austen, 1-5772.

Here's another stocking-stuffer with a non-profit angle: the League of Women Voters' new 1957 date book. It's a little spiral bound booklet, purse-size and only 25c. Buy several at Hinkson's, 74 Nassau; Princeton Book Mart, 11 Palmer Square; or the University Store on the campus.

lots from every country in Europe. Try a fabulous box ($3.50) of Italian chocolates, or some excellent domestic ones in miniature at $1 for a half pound box.

English sweets in those apothecary jars are on the shelves of the Del and at Louise Maas, 52 Nassau. (The Maas shop has an antique jar that you can buy empty or buy and fill with candies. It's about 100 years old.)

The Maas specialty is Rosemarie de Paris, and you may have a box as low as $1.50, or even 75c if you'll settle for a few mint chips. Petits fours from Rosemarie are $2.50 for 28.

For a novelty, buy some white chocolate or some DeMet's turtles. Hard candies, novelty candies in little plastic containers, candy cones of all sizes—everything is here. You'll want some old-fashioned raspberry ice bique, with macaroni crumbs, or perhaps a Christmas ice-cream mold, to order this Friday for delivery the next day.

While you're in the Louise Maas shop, be sure to look at the hand-blown candy dishes. Clear and undecorated, as barley sugar, with a knobbed cover, they are almost like champagne glasses in their functional gracefulness.

The candy cupboard at Thorne's, holds just that. Candy Cupboard. This popular, priced candy comes in miniatures, milk chocolates, and so on. Stover is the aristocrat of the collection at 168 Nassau. These chocolates come in one, two, three and five pound boxes, including some gift boxes prettily decorated with gold snowflakes and a big rose. Stover's honeysuckles are swarms with a melting center—a candy well loved by children.

Mackintosh makes taffees and chocolates for Thorne, and innumerable confectioners send along hard and filled candies in various holiday containers. Whitman's Samplers are plentiful, and there's a one-pound box that comes in a pleasant sewing basket, to make darning a more agreeable pastime. Cost $5.95.

Davidson has Whitman, and so does Vieth's. The Christmas Shop at 110 Nassau has Fanny Farmer by the truckload. These chocolates start at $1.15 a pound and go up as high as you want to go. —Continued on Page 16

STUDENTS FINED

After Malicious Night. Along with words of serious advice to the effect that "some of the boys might have to serve time in the county workhouse" if the current malicious mischief trend continues, Borough Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro this week imposed severer-than-usual fines on four Princeton University students for a series of misdeeds the evening of December 8. Endorsing the magistrate's rulings, Sgt. Raymond Mondone, acting police lieutenant, called it "one of the busiest nights in several years"—almost too much for a patrol squad of four.

Hit hard for various vandalistic acts, stimulated by intoxicating liquor the night after the university's annual "Bicker Week," were David B. McMullin, 71 Holder Hall, $30; Hurd Hutchins, 521 Laughlin Hall, $25; Paul S. Warwick, 33 Patton Hall, $20, and Joseph L. Tonnetti Jr., 2B Hamilton Hall, $15. In addition, for resisting arrest, Mr. McMullin was fined another $40 and given a 30-day suspended workhouse sentence and Mr. Hutchins was fined another $25 and given a 15-day suspended workhouse sentence. All four youths were simultaneously suspended from college for an indefinite period.

Also in Municipal Court, 14 out-of-town motorists and an even dozen Princeton drivers were penalized for traffic violations. Included among the Princeton area offenders were the following speeders: Roland T. Taylor, 18, of 110 Witherspoon Street, $25; Matthew Hafenmaier, 18, of Plainsboro, $15 (plus $12 for "stop" sign violation); Cortland Williams, 33, of Rosedale Road, and Hans K. Sander, 32, of 73 Harriet Drive, $15 each; Usahne C. Westneat, 35, of R.D. 1, and Z. A. Ross, 47, of Rosedale Road, $10 each.

The following Princetonians were penalized for other traffic offenses: Ferdinand Baruch, 35, of 40 Deerpath, $30, no driver's license and $12 for "stop" sign; Charles E. Burnett Jr., 19, of Kingston, 30 days in the workhouse and a two-year license revocation for drunk driving; Armlstad I. Robinson, 45 of 135 John St., $15, failure to signal at a bad curve; Miss V. E. Mershon, 19, of Princeton Junction, $20, careless driving; Hubert DeLange, 42, of 16 Linden Lane, $12, "stop" sign, and Miss Pamela L. Daily, 17, of Skillman, $15, following too closely.

OFF-STREET PARKING

It Presents Problems. Prompted by complaints from Alexander Street residents, who find it impossible to park in front of their own homes during daylight hours on weekdays and find it equally difficult for delivery trucks to maneuver in their behalf, the Borough has conducted a survey of all-day parking on 11 residential streets near the business district. This week, councilmen are studying a summary of the survey to determine what steps might be taken to ease the off-street parking situation.

The survey, organized by Arnold Ryden of the Borough Engineering Department, was performed from 7:30 to 9:30 on a Tuesday morning by 15 Princeton High students. Included in the tabulation, which sought to determine where the different parkers are employed and the location of their homes, were the following "free parking" streets: Alexander, Boudinot, Morven, Wiggins, North Tulane, Madison, William (partly a two-hour zone that is oft-violated), Olden, Mercer, Library and John.

Taking into account the 454 total cars spaces on these streets, the PHS surveyors managed to interview 153 drivers and record the license numbers of another —Continued on Page 10

112 autos. They noted that most of the available "free" spaces were occupied before 8:30 (many of them before 8) and more than half were occupied by persons from out of the Borough or Township.

Some random, but enlightening facts reported by the students: No less than 17 Educational Testing Service employees were among 37 parkers interviewed on Boudinot Street; 10 Van Nostrand employees parked along Alexander Street, in the Borough, though their place of business lies in the Township; Bell Telephone employees, apparently early risers, have a virtual monopoly on many of the William Street and Olden Avenue spaces; an irate resident of Boudinot has a fairly regular habit of removing his car from his garage shortly after dawn and parking it in front of his home until the all-day parkers have arrived and parked.

With the survey's summary in hand, council members will try to decide what additional streets, if any, require parking meters or limited parking zones and what other courses of action are open to appease their constituents who live along the streets in question. They will review the few possible sites still available in the Borough for convenient off-street parking lots.

One parking alternative—that of utilizing such areas as the space around Baker Rink and running employees of major concerns into town by bus or car pool—has been suggested to council. Though Princeton probably isn't large enough yet to warrant such a big-city plan, the governing body definitely will consider it because it feels the problems of off-street parking have passed the acute stage here.

PRINCETONIAN JAILED

Receives 30-Day Sentence. Alcoholic overindulgence proved costly for Charles Conover shortly after midnight last Friday, for, as a result of his early-morning conduct, he will spend the Christmas holidays in the county workhouse. Also, he will be nursing an assortment of severe acid burns while incarcerated.

The 29-year-old Princeton resident, who lives at 148 Witherspoon Street, began his ill-fated performance sometime Friday evening, but got down to brass tacks approximately 1 a. m. Saturday. At that time, he broke down the front door of a neighbor, William H. Lee, 145 Witherspoon, and allegedly threatened to kill the occupant with a board from the door wreckage and a knife.

In self-defense, Mr. Lee, who reportedly was mixing a batch of homemade soap when the sudden intrusion occurred, threw a container of caustic lye in his assailant's face. Mr. Conover suffered painful burns all over his head, while Mr. Lee splashed a few damaging drops of lye about his own hairline.

On Monday, in special session, Borough Magistrate Paul R. Cheseboro found Mr. Conover guilty of disorderly conduct and ordered the workhouse sentence, bringing tears to the defendant's handaged eyes with the announcement that he will spend Christmas behind bars. Mr. Lee, also charged under the disorderly persons act for his lye-throwing, was ruled innocent and released.

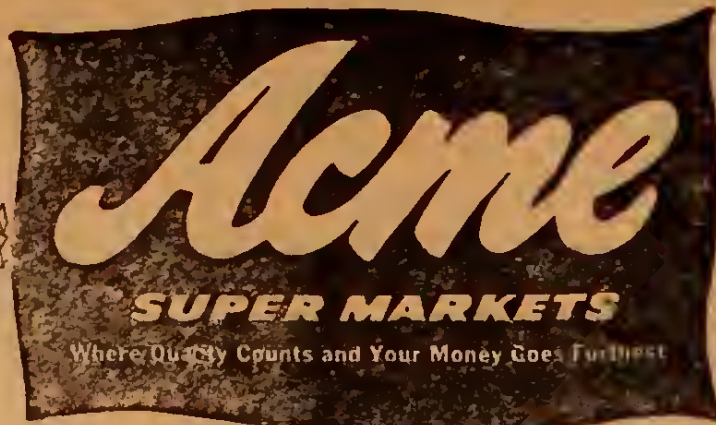

TOWNSHIP GROWTH

Reflected in Sewer Figures. Princeton Township's important increase in population during the past year was underscored this week by figures released by the joint sewer operating committee. The committee met early to agree on the amount each participant will pay in the next fiscal year.

Based primarily on the water volume used, the Borough's taxpayers will handle 47.38% of the cost of operation, maintenance and amortization of capital expenditures, as opposed to the 49% they are now paying. The Township's share will be 32.77%, up from 29%, and Princeton University will pay 19.85%, a decrease from the current 22%.

As far as incineration costs are concerned, the Borough will pay 50.6% (largely due to the concentration of business downtown), the Township will be assessed for 37.13% and the university will cover 12.27%. Interestingly, the joint committee's incinerators last year burned 8,333 tons of trash, or something like 883 pounds per person.

Commenting on the incineration figures, I. Russell Riker, representing the Borough, noted that many surrounding communities are complaining about paying $5 or $6 per ton for incineration. Princeton, he said, now pays exactly $4 per ton, double the cost two decades ago, but well under the average cost in this area, including maintenance and capital expenditures.

New Bank Vice President. George J. Adriance has been elected an assistant vice president of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company to direct the loan department. It was announced by George B. Cook, president of the company. Mr. Adriance will succeed Gordon B. Marsh, who has resigned to become vice-president of a travel agency in Plainfield.

Mr. Adriance and his wife will move to Princeton from New York City after the first of the year, when he will assume his duties. A 1946 graduate of Williams College, he has been associated with the Irving Trust Company since 1948, serving as assistant secretary since 1952.

Mr. Cook also reported that Harold C. Kines has been elected secretary to succeed Oliver Spaulding, who retired December 1. Mr. Kynes has been associated with the bank since 1947.

Meanwhile, the board of directors declared at its regular monthly meeting a special year-end dividend of 80 cents per share on the stock of the company, payable last Tuesday to stockholders of record December 12. Total dividends for the year amounted to $2.40 per share. The directors also declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 50 cents per share payable out of 1956 earnings on February 1 to stockholders of record December 12.

Birth List. Four boys and one girl were born to Princeton area parents last week at Princeton Hospital.

Parents of sons are Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Russo, Kingston Road; Dr. and Mrs. Alfred S. Cook, 142 Prospect Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Alexander, 194 Linden Lane, and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford J. Luther, Mill Road, Dutch Neck. The girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wyckoff, 27 Railroad Place, Hopewell.

Advance Notice

February 27, 1957, has been set as the date for the annual Members' Meeting for all contributors to the United Fund campaign. This advance announcement is made" the president of the Fund, Thomas P. Cook said, "with the hope that events of other organizations will not be scheduled on this date."

Two committees have been appointed by the United Fund. Dean Douglas B. Condit will be chairman of the nominating committee, with John C. Williams II and Gerald D. Non as the other members. The planning, arrangements and awards committee was headed by Mrs. J. Taylor Woodward, Mrs. Donald A. Fruland and William J. Taylor.

The total reached in the collection so far is $143,500 — $16,500 short of the $160,000 goal.

planned for Thursday night by the 70-member Queensborough Club of Princeton University's Department of Grounds and Buildings. The event will be held in the University Dining Halls.

Three new members of the club will be honored on completion of 23 years of service in the University. They are Peter Lappan, Graduate College curator; Victor Payne, a member of the painting department; and William Lewis, a member of the Dickinson Hall Custodial staff. The speaker on the occasion will be William F. Alston, a faculty member at Princeton High School and summer-time ranger in the National Park Service, who will give an illustrated talk on the Great Smokies.

Matthews B. Maxwell, 37 Witherspoon Street, is the club's newly-elected president. Other officers and committee chairmen include Walter Mack, 188 Jefferson Road, secretary; John Green, Trenton, recording secretary; Charles Jackson, Princeton Junction, and Russell Taylor, 250 Witherspoon Street, sick committee co-chairman; and Robert Cheeseman, Trenton, publicity chairman.

New Teachers Appointed. The appointment of two new teachers in Township schools has been announced by the Township board of education. They are Mrs. Audrey Gail of Riverdale Drive and Mrs. Margaret Jones, 401 Cuyler Avenue, Trenton.

Mrs. Gruff will teach a new fifth grade at Littlebrook School which has been formed since the growth of the class. Littlebrook School now has three fifth-grade classes. Mrs. Jones will fill the

Obituaries

Dr. Frank Aydelotte, 76, of 88 Battle Road, died December 17 in Princeton Hospital after having suffered a stroke a week earlier. The cause of his death was given as cerebral thrombosis.

A former president of Swarthmore College, Dr. Aydelotte was American secretary to the Rhodes Scholarship trustees for 35 years. From 1940 until 1947, he was director of the Institute for Advanced Study.

Born in Sullivan, Indiana, Dr. Aydelotte graduated from Indiana

University in 1900 and earned his master's degree at Harvard in 1903. Two years later, he received a Rhodes Scholarship to Oxford, studying there until 1907. In 1918, he became American secretary of Rhodes scholarships, serving in that capacity until 1933.

He was a member of the faculty at Massachusetts Institute of Technology when he was elected president of Swarthmore in 1921. He left that post 19 years later to come to the Institute for Advanced Study.

The author of numerous books and articles on English literature, education and public affairs, Dr. Aydelotte had served as a trustee of such bodies as the Guggenheim Memorial Foundation, the World Peace Foundation and the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. He was a director of the American Friends Service Committee.

A son, William O. Aydelotte, of Iowa City, Iowa, survives. A Quaker memorial service will be held at Stony Brook Meeting House Saturday at 11 a.m., followed by another Sunday afternoon in Swarthmore.

Frank M. Campbell, 65, of Mount Lucas Road, died December 12 in Princeton Hospital. For the past nine years, he had been a driver for Tiger Bus Line.

Born in St. Joseph, Mo., he was the husband of the late Ida M. Campbell. A brother, Milton, with whom he lived, survives.

The funeral was held at the home of his brother, with the Rev. Henry Heaps, pastor of the Kingston Presbyterian Church, officiating. Burial was in Gower Missouri.

Calish J. Cumberley, 87, a former proctor for Princeton University, died December 17 at his home in Toms River. He had lived there for seven years, after moving from the Princeton-Fightstown Road.

Husband of the late Eva E. Cumberley, he is survived by four daughters, including Mrs. Grandin Herbert of Dutch Neck; 16 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren. The funeral will be held Thursday at 2 at a Trenton funeral home, followed by burial in Greenwood Cemetery in that city.

Miss Maude Marshall, 63, of 14 Leigh Avenue, died December 16 in Princeton Hospital. She had been a resident of Princeton for 25 years.

Daughter of the late Washington and Fannie Pratt Marshall, she is survived by three brothers, including Nathaniel of Princeton. The funeral will be held Thursday at 2 from her home, with the Rev. Dr. William T. Parker, pastor of the First Baptist Church, of which she was a member, officiating. Interment will be in Princeton Cemetery.

vacancy as fourth-grade teacher at Valley Road School, created by the resignation of Mrs. Joan Deeter of 36 Wiggins Street. Mrs. Jones has earlier taught remedial reading at the Princeton High School.

The school board also authorized bids for an additional school bus. The bus will bring kindergarten children home from the morning session and back for afternoon session.

Accident on Quaker Road. Edgar C. Seely, 10 Dewberry Drive, Levittown, Pa., was reported in "good condition" by Princeton Hospital attendants at mid-week after experiencing a serious auto accident on Quaker Road early Sunday morning. The driver suffered a fractured jaw, broken in four places, and a severely cut lower lip while his wife, Roberta, a passenger, was released from the hospital following emergency treatment for minor bruises.

Township police, who investigated the accident, said Mr. Seely crashed into a culvert as he rounded a curve mid-way between the Mercer Street cut-off and Port Mercer. They speculated that the motorist fell asleep at the wheel, though he has been unable to make an official statement due to the condition of his jaw.

Soroptimists Celebrate. The Princeton Soroptimists Club will hold its annual Christmas party this Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockwell, 32 Dogwood Lane, Lake Carnegie Estates.

Alan D. Richards, Princeton photographer, will give an illustrated talk on his trip last month to Melbourne, Australia, showing colored slides he took while photographing the Olympics. Members and their guests will be served a turkey dinner.

League Members Attend Conference. Six members of the Princeton League of Women Voters were among 450 leaders of New Jersey Leagues who attended a special conference last week in Newark.

The group from Princeton included Mrs. David Rodnick, Mrs. Robert Parmenter, Mrs. Frank Bache, Mrs. Frank Herman, Mrs. Frederick Harrison and Mrs. Harold Cherniss. The conference heard four experts outline guideposts for a sound foreign policy for the future.

Buy some Wallace this minute from Viedt's to top off a Christmas dinner. Slip into a granny's stocking some crystallized ginger, or a hand-rolled candy cane, or some barley sugar. Ribbon candy is sheer and fine as lingerie. A maple Santa is fat and sweet.

Crystallized strawberries from France are $3.50 for 48 at the Gourmet. Eat one each at a time. A French knock of cardboard holds a jar of hard candies, and the same barley sugar. Ribbon candy is sheer and fine as lingerie. A maple Santa is fat and sweet.

Fanciers of marzipan may assemble a collection from Viedt's, the Gourmet, and the Gourmet. To the Gourmet, they'll find Italian marzipan which is sweeter and less rich than German. (There's a hint of Christmas figures in a triangle box.)

At the Deli, there is famous Luebeck marzipan in all the lovely shapes and sizes, including a realistic piece of salami on a crust of bread (no garlic). Pure, ground almonds used in Luebeck candy. Viedt's has a basket of realistic marzipan strawberries.

Want a candy cane? Thorne's, Viedt's, Louise Mass, Cox, Davidson's.

Wassail. A New Year's or Christmas celebration is sometimes hard for people who don't drink. This year, there's a bottle of sparkling white grape juice by Meyer. You'll find it at Davidson's. In one pint, since once bottle for $1.50.

Knevel is a German sparkling wine sold by Yeoman's in three pints for $4.35. The store at 108 Nassau also has a wrought iron rack that holds five identical bottles of C & W Seven Star makes five good-looking decanters when everything is gone.

For another gift, Yeoman suggests Hiram Wallers' Creme de Cacao, or the Ancient Age bourbon that comes in a decanter with cigarette lighter on top $3.50 extra.

Wine and Game has an old crew made out of real Royal Doulton and filled with guess what? There are a couple of good decanters filled with creme de menthe and creme de cacao.

The Spirit of the Season

The ubiquitous decanter is ubiquitous once again. Beam puts a handle on its usual canards. Calvert likes the triangle. Park and Tilford's lantern still plays its music-box tune. (Same brand this year in a wide-mouth bottle you can use later for a cocktail shaker — about three inches across.)

Smirhoff vodka comes in a cut-glass bottle with an ornate top, like a Russian church. C & W's Seven Star label pulls off and shows underneath a simple gold lettering that tells you rye, bourbon, Scotch, or whatever.

Canadian Club likes the pre-wrapped idea, and you'll find a box and gleaming wrapping so that you don't have to turn so much as a fold of paper. One dealer with years of experience, decenter-wise, told us that the decanter on the way out as a Christmas item, and the pre-wrapped bottle on the way in. All we know is the decenter is certainly "in" this year, anyway.

Blechoff's cordial decanters are prize pieces at Wine and Game. The one in stock (creme de menthe) is Venetian glass in emerald and gold, shaped like a long tear with a year drop stopper. $19.50, and matching glasses are $12 for six.

Thirsty? Try a gallon bottle of Canadian Club for $31.50. It has a holder for easy pouring. Simpler fancies and purer might like a touch of Wine and Game's Madeira in a wicker basket. Give a pause — here's a look at four little liquor bottles, all in one for $13.95.

Within the warm pine paneled room that is the new O'Kane's, 236 Nassau, we found an excellent collection of wines. Portugal sends a bottle of Dalva port in a wicker case for $2.28. Both tawny and ruby ports in this shipment. There's a Spanish Creme Sherry for $2.28 in a bottle wrapped with smooth gold foil.

At Claridge, next to the parcel door of the A&P in the Shopping Center, there is a Biscoff decanter in Venetian glass. This one is filled with black herry cordial. Its decoration is called "Emerald Rose," and costs $14.95. Six matching glasses are $10. Cousins has decanters shaped like everything but the morning after. Look at the Eiffel tower, the fat book that holds a cordial, the cabin with bourbon, and the restrained Kentucky Tavern bottle that's content with narrow stripes on plain glass.

Try coffee liqueur as a gift or as a drink. The store on Palmer Square also has the Ancient Age bourbon with the lighter on top. (We recommend this decanter to brandy manufacturers for an easier case dialable.)

In wines, domestic and imported, Princeton's liquor stores have everything. O'Kane recommends a vin rose, Bouquet de Provence, $1.80 and Liebfraumarkt at $1.57. Jean Lambertin Brut, '49 is the O'Kane champagne. It's $3.55.

Claridge has a vintage Tavel Rose at $1.99 and innumerable red burgundies at $1.69, $1.75. A Pouilly-Fuissé white burgundy is $1.85. The Grey-Chamberlain, '47, is $3.61. Red burgundies from Cousins might include the Lambertin Beaujolais, or anyone of a hundred others.

Piper Heldsieck is plentiful as water, but a shade more expensive. Wine and Game has it, vintage '47. Claridge offers six splits for $9.50 in a gift box. Cousins is well-stocked with the gift box, too.

And for a good mixer — Cox Delicatessen has anything you need, from the soda to the olive. The Igloo on Bayard Lane is your inexhaustible supply of ice-cubes.

One Minute to Twelve. Run a pencil down your list — everybody accounted for? Pick up any of the Mary Chase toiletries at the Princeton Inn Gift Shop. Buy a pair of Japanese lacquered chopsticks at Gourmet, to stick through a chignon (50c). Buy a box of stationery with a quill pen inside, from Princeton Stationers (pink, green, white, $2).

Want a little trinket to stuff a stocking? Princeton Decorating Shop's decoupage pieces — trays, boxes, letter holders, jewel boxes, boxes, cash pots, all done with decoupage from old prints. Priced from 95c for a pillbox to $15 for a tray that's everything-proof.

Those ceramic game bird ashtrays at Wine and Game that fill such a useful purpose in a den. A 200 postcard side with silver and gold thread, from the Knitting Shop. A scap-neck evening sweater from the same shop. A Lady Hathaway shirt in Viegella from The English Shop . . .

We leave you wrapping the gifts that symbolize the giving spirit of Christmas, and give to you our own wish for a happy holiday season.

Stuck in the Mud

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

Get the roads fixed. There are no ways to walk to Littlebrook School except two very long ways. And hurry as fast as you can to get the roads fixed, so I can get thru to school. They're digging up the road and they're digging up the field that is between my house and the school so there are only those two long ways to school. Every day I come home with very muddy feet.

Today the principal of the school said it would be up to my knees the way that I had been going to school. Some children that I have seen outside the classroom window have gotten stuck in the mud. It took two men to pull one child out. She was in kindergarten.

It is easy to get the children to Littlebrook School if you take them by car. It is not very easy for children on Snowden Lane to walk to school.

LONNI SUE JOHNSON, (age 6)
(Littlebrook first grader)
231 Snowden Lane

(Ed. Note—A copy of Lonni Sue's letter has been sent to Township Mayor Ralph S. Mason for his consideration. Meanwhile, readers can get a glimpse of what she is talking about by looking at the photo taken Monday afternoon just north of Littlebrook School).

Jewel of Hope

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

The editors of the monthly magazine, Guideposts, felt that you would be interested in reprinting this article from the December issue. It was written by Arthur Gordon of 35 Clover Lane.

"Christmas is like a jewel of a thousand brilliant facets, each too wonderful to describe. History, tradition, legend. Music, poetry, fantasy. Brotherhood, kindness, love. And glowing always at the heart of the jewel itself, the most tremendous message of all: hope.

"Old as Christmas is, that theme is even older. It goes back into the dawn of time when anxious primitive man, watching the sun sink daily lower in the sky, became aware with a great upsurge of joy that the days were getting longer again, that the source of warmth and light and life was coming back.

"On that pagan festival was superimposed the timeless story of the Manger with its far greater gift of hope, its promise that the Universe is not, after all, a gigantic clock wound up and left to run, mechanical and dreadful, but an infinitely marvelous manifestation of a Creator who knows and understands and, above all, cares.

"Not many, I'm sure, will stop to consider these things on Christmas morning. Not in the pre-dawn grayness when from the children's room come muffled squeals and muted horns and the ecstatic sound of paper tearing.

"But they are there. They will always be there when the stars fade, and light spills over the rim of the world, and once again it is Christmas Day."

Auction Successful

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

On behalf of the Miss Fine's School Alumnae Association, I would like to thank you for your excellent coverage of our benefit

A SEA OF MUD AT LITTLEBROOK: Princeton youngsters are getting their feet muddy and Township mothers are getting their danders up because of quagmire conditions that have existed at Littlebrook School (visible in background) since it opened in September and have grown worse since the recent rains. The two most direct walking routes home for the majority of Littlebrookers (one of them via unpaved Abernathy Drive, in photo above) lead the children through great quantities of mud—and, as a lot of Littlebrook parents know by now, it's hard to convince their offspring they should take a long, indirect drier route rather than frolic in the mire. In addition to promoting muddier conditions, the rainy weather is slowing installation of essential storm drains along Magnolia Lane (adjacent to the school). Developers of the Overbrook section cannot finish such roads as Abernathy and Magnolia in the swampy area until the drains are laid, bases for the roads are completed and given time to settle and warm weather permits proper road topping. Dear Mrs. Thoughtful:

It seems that wonderful husband of yours has his heart set on a Ridge overhead door for Christmas. He deserves a fine door like the Ridge. It's so easy to operate—so good looking and sturdy.

I'd be glad to oblige, but half the men in town asked for a Ridge overhead door. Since I can't possibly tote that many around, I've shipped the lot down to Grover Lumber.

Do me a favor, and place your order today. I wouldn't want your sweetheart to think I'd forgotten him.

Prowler Story Questioned

To the Editors of TOWN TOPICS:

The editors of TOWN TOPICS, in their reporting of the apprehension of a "prowler" in the issue distributed December 13, have printed as presumably fact much that was not true. Mere suspicion, even if voiced by a police officer, is not fact.

To prevent the defamation of other innocent persons in the future, I wish to remind the editors of TOWN TOPICS that there is a profound difference between the suspicions of a conscientious police officer and the facts, which, as in this case, are brought out in the orderly processes of law.

PHONE CALL TO SANTA

A Dolly, and Book, and . . . If a lot of youngsters don't find their hearts' desires under the Christmas tree or in the stockings at the mantle-piece Tuesday morning, it isn't Princeton's her loved Santa Claus' fault. For the past week and a half, Santa (alias 71-year-old, blind Henry Schultz of 134 Nassau Street) has spent more than two hours every afternoon chatting with youngsters about their Christmas wishes.

Santa Claus, who can be reached from 3 to 5 each day until Christmas at his North Pole workshop (Princeton 1-3375), is listening to small voices with big wishes for the eighth year in a row. Many of the children calling him this year start out with a cheerful greeting asking him if he remembers them from last year, and Mr. Schultz finishes every phone call to the children's delight by asking the child to call him next year.

Town Topics' roving reporter listened in on a series of phone calls and heard numerous requests for dollies and bicycles, the latter respectively three-and two-wheeled, according to the age of the small voices. One child promised Santa a picture "that I colored rather well," another finished an imposing list of Christmas wishes by suddenly turning timid and saying, in a very small voice, "Also, if you can get one, can I have a real-life kitty?"

One exchange went like this: Santa Claus: "Did you ever eat plum pudding?" Three-year-old: "I'll be a good girl, I promise."

A little girl who wanted a cowboy, was told that she was just a trifle too small for that. Another small sophisticate, when asked what he wanted for Christmas, answered, "Not much, I have most everything I want right now." He did admit, though, that he would love a train, if Santa or the reindeer could find one.

Mr. Schultz's ability to understand the excited voices over the phone was constantly amazing.

SANTA SCHULTZ: Now in his eighth year of bringing Christmas joy to Princeton area children, Henry Schultz receives calls from 16 different communities in New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

But even Santa Claus is human. In one conversation, he asked a child if she would like maybe a dolly, or a bed for a doll, or perhaps even a dress for Christmas.

The voice at the other end of the phone said "Yes" nicely to everything, but, finally, when Santa asked about the hair color to help select the dress, the voice rose in obvious horror and exclaimed: "But I'm a boy!"

SOUTH POLE SANTA

Children Wire Antarctic. If the children in the fourth grade at Valley Road School are just a trifle confused about whether Santa Claus lives on the North Pole or the South Pole, it can all be traced to a recent exchange of wires. The children sent a telegram with Christmas greetings to "Operation Deepfreeze" at the South Pole, and to their surprise and delight received an answer back from the commander-in-charge, Admiral George F. Dufek.

The idea arose when the children's teacher, Mrs. Catherine F. Coderre, decided to combine reference work on the inventors of the telegraph with the study of Antarctica. The children decided to visit Western Union and, besides watching the operations in the office, sent their wire with the help of the manager, M. M. Liples. The matter of clearing

Question of the Week

Question: What would you like Santa Claus to bring you this year, and what does Christmas mean to you?

Location: Mrs. Sallye Brook's first-grade classroom, Nassau Street School.

Jay Turner, 39 Hamilton Avenue: I want an erector truck and an Army rifle with a rubber bayonet. And an Army truck with a searchlight on it, and also some Army men with an Army tank. I think I've been good enough to get them. To me, Christmas means you should love other people and should give presents to other people.

Ellen Kasrel, 261 Prospect Avenue: A Revlon doll, a ballerina doll, a bassinet, a crib and some costumes for my dolls. Dolls are my favorite things. I don't know of anything else I want as much as dolls. Christmas is wonderful because it means to be loving and kind to everybody.

Janet Penrose, Mercerville: I'd like Santa Claus to bring me a Betsy Wetsy doll and a few games and ice skates. Oh yes, and a baby stroller — and tell him that's not a couch. Jesus' birthday is on Christmas, and it means to love and give.

Billy Carroll, 54 Murray Place: A checkers set. A bow and arrow outfit with rubber tips on the ends so I can't hurt anybody. A doctor kit. One of those sailboats. Christmas means to be good — and you can tell Santa I have been!

Laura Rice, 24 Quarry Street: Please ask Santa to bring me a wedding doll, a baby carriage, a Tuxy Tears doll and a doll that marches in a parade. To me, Christmas means it's winter and you must give nice presents to people, and help them.

Sam Walker, 168 Westcott Road: A cap gun with a holster and a cowboy hat. That's about all, I guess. I'm not sure what else I want. Oh, a rifle from Santa Claus. As far as what Christmas means, I think you should think of giving other people presents, but don't be greedy.

Alice Milroy, 41 Alexander Street: Well, a doctor's kit. A bride doll. A baby stroller. A two-wheel bicycle — I've had one before, but it's really my brother's. Christmas is a time when you should be kind and give other folks nice things.

Eyes Tell the Answer

When Town Topics' inquiring reporter conducted Question of the Week at the Nassau Street School this week, asking a perennially popular question, he received an explicit report on Christmas desires from all the interviewees — except one. Masahiro Honda, 104 North Stanworth Drive, failed to respond.

The six-year-old youngster's understanding teacher, Mrs. Sallye Brook, was quick to point out that Masahiro really wants Santa to deliver a few gifts for him next Tuesday, but he just arrived in Princeton 10 days ago from Zurich, Switzerland, and can't express his wishes in English yet. As a matter of fact, Mrs. Brook noted that her new pupil was born in Japan and his transfer report card was written in German, so she's pretty much in the dark concerning any of his thoughts, Christmas or otherwise.

Despite the language difficulties, however, Mrs. Brook said Masahiro is beginning to learn English in a hurry, with the aid of his fellow students, and he enjoyed posing for the photo that runs with Question. And, while his lips were unable to convey any Christmas message in English, his bright eyes certainly told a spirited story.

the wire in Washington was solved successfully, and after a while Admiral Dufek's answer was received.

The children worded their message thus: "Christmas greetings to all you men at Ambarctica. Studying about 'Operation Deepfreeze? We pray for your safety, success at South Pole."

The admiral's answer said, "Please convey my deepest gratitude to the pupils of grade 4 for their inspiring message for the success and safety of 'Operation Deepfreeze'. My men join in sending you all season's greetings."

ADULT SEMINARS SET

Registration January 10. For the first time, Princetonians will have an opportunity to attend seminar courses given by members of the university faculty, through the Princeton Adult School. Registration for the courses will be held at the high school on January 10 from 8 to 10 p.m.

The seminars will occupy two hours and run concurrently with the adult school program on Thursday nights for ten weeks starting January 31. The size of the groups will be limited, and assigned outside reading will be required of the members.

Professor Edward T. Hubler of the English department will lead a group in discussion and analysis of five Shakespeare tragedies. They are: "Romeo and Juliet," "Hamlet," "Othello," "King Lear," and "Antony and Cleopatra." Author of "The Sense of Shakespeare's Sonnets," Mr. Hubler is a well-known authority on Shakespeare.

Professor Percy E. Corbett of the Woodrow Wilson School will give a seminar in problems of American history. Among the basic readings are "American Foreign Policy" by Snyder and Furniss, and Kennan's "Realities of American Foreign Policy." Classical problems in ethics will be discussed in a seminar led by Professor Hugo A. Bedau of the philosophy department. Reading for this course will include selections from Plato, Aristotle, Butler, Kant and Mill.

A fourth seminar has been arranged through the Great Books Foundation. The seminar will be limited in size and will deal with great issues in education. The discussion will be based on a boxed set of 16 readings, which cost $6.45 each.

Chamber Music Group. Instrumental players looking for an opportunity to play in chamber music ensemble will be able to do so when the Princeton Adult School opens its session January 31. Rodney Dennis, violinist and violin teacher now with the Manhattan School of Music, has been engaged to provide music and supervise groups of players for 10 evenings at the school.

Violin, viola, cello, oboe, flute and double bass players, regardless of experience, are invited to register at the high school on January 10 from 8 to 10 p.m.—one week in advance of the regular Adult School registration. An attempt will be made to arrange groups according to ability. One or two French horn players can also be accommodated.

The chamber music groups will meet for two hours on Thursday nights. Mr. Dennis expects to play, if possible, some of the concerto grosso literature—largely 17th and 18th century work, in—cluding Handel, Pergolesi, Corelli and Telemann. The works will not present too forbidding a technical challenge, but "will still be musically rewarding," Mr. Dennis announced.

The director added that it will be possible to arrange groups into trios and quartets also. The fee for the 10-session course will be $3. A deposit will be required on music taken home for study, but the deposit will be refunded upon return of the music.

YMCA Christmas Party. The Princeton YMCA will hold its Christmas party for boys 7 to 12 years old Friday from 7 to 8:30 p. m. in the YMCA's 102 Witherspoon Street Auditorium. Santa Claus will be present and Jean Pierre Meyer will entertain the boys with feats of magic, songs and carols.

YMCA officials extended their appreciation for the aid of Mr. Meyer of Bamberger's, Edward Sussick of the Christmas tree concession at the Shopping Center and Loar L. Quicke, manager of Woolworth's. The Youth Committee of the YMCA consists of the Rev. Wiley Critz, Edward Moyer, Thomas Turner, Howard Lane, Delos Schoch, Robert Clinton and Daniel Sullivan.

APS Elects Officers. Mrs. Datus Smith of 74 Wilson Road has been elected chairman of the new executive group for American Field Service in Princeton. Other new officers for the group are: Mrs. John V. A. Fine, vice-chairman; Miss Katherine Lyons, secretary; Bayly Winder, treasurer; Miss Shirley Davis, representative for Miss Fine's School; William H. Rhodes, representative for Princeton High School; Mrs. H. Philip Minis, public relations; Harry Volwieder, finance; and Mrs. William S. Dix, new homes.

The officers were elected at a meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. D'Arms. Reports were made on the chapter's activities in the past year. Four foreign students, all girls, from Denmark, England, France, and Germany are spending this school year in Princeton with one attending Miss Fine's School and three at the High School. Three Princeton students spent the summer abroad, one in Switzerland and two in France, as part of the program.

The fund drive for the new year of operations has as its goal approximately $2700. The drive will start with a dance a week from Saturday in the gymnasium of Miss Fine's School. Sponsored by the junior committee, the dance will be from 8 to 12, with Nick Basenko's orchestra playing. Tickets at $1.50 each or $2.50 per couple may be obtained from Kendall Edge, chairman of the committee, at 1-2601-M, or at the door.

PEACE ON EARTH. GOOD WILL BETWEEN BEASTS: Inspired by the sad story of a tiger-striped kitten, "Howl-Tiger" by name, and his unhappy relations with the dog world (told in a recent issue of Town Topics), a reader sent in this picture. The kitten, eight-month-old "Tom-Tom II," and the dog, five-year-old "Ooucie," play together, wrestle each other and just adore each other, according to their owner, Mrs. A. G. Graham of Carter Road. The dog brought the kitten up and still feels her responsibility; whenever she hears a cat fight outside, she rushes out, breaks it up, shoos the other participants away and then turns to "Tom-Tom" and licks him all over to make sure he's not hurt.

Cadillac

His Tenth... and His Greatest Thrill!

Nine times before he has stood in his dealer's showroom and accepted the keys to a new Cadillac car. And yet, as often as he has re-enacted this glorious event, he knows that there is something very special about today.

For this is more than a new Cadillac. This is the newest and most advanced Cadillac car ever to find its way from drawing board to production line.

And imagine, for just a moment, the many wonderful thrills that await him as he takes the keys and starts off on his first journey home.

To begin with, there will be his discovery of Cadillac's brilliant new performance. The car is so smooth and responsive that it will be a revelation.

Then, as he takes the sweep of the boulevard, there will be the added thrill of those admiring glances that will come from his fellow motorists.

And how satisfying it will be to find that Cadillac owners themselves have a special affection for the man who rides in the new "car of cars".

And finally, of course, there will be the joy of that wonderful "welcome home" as he turns into the familiar driveway and comes to a silent stop.

For a new 1957 Cadillac is the prize of any family... and the pride of any neighborhood!

Why not come in soon for a preview of this thrilling experience? We have a 1957 Cadillac waiting in our showroom—and we will be happy to give you a personal demonstration at any time.

Whether it's to be your first or your second—or your fifth or your tenth Cadillac—you're in for a wonderful surprise!

PRINCETONIANS PLAYING FOR PRINCETON: Continuing a trend that has become more than a passing fancy, these six sons of Princeton families currently are sporting orange and black as members of Princeton University hockey teams. On the flanks, in white jerseys, are Peter Cook (left) of Kingston and Grenville Cuyler, 32 Edgell Street, freshmen on the Tiger first-year club. Members of the varsity squad are (left to right) Harry Erdman, 20 Boudinot Street, Douglas Levick (whose family only recently moved from town), Michael Rulon-Miller, 6 Newlin Road, and Robert Kales, 114 Elm Road. QUINTET IMPROVING Balance in There. A basketball team that can place all five of its starting players in double figures is unlikely to be beaten whenever it does. If Cappy Cappon's quintet can turn that trick in some of its Ivy League games after the first of the year, it will be an extremely tough outfit to defeat.

Navy's previously all-winning five found that out Saturday night in Dillon Gym. The midshipmen had topped four opponents in a row, one of their triumphs coming by 45 points over Penn in the Palestra. Against Princeton, however, the Annapolis crew never held the lead after the first five minutes of play.

Looking toward the championship games ahead, Cappon gave indication that he will again go with his top five players as long as none of them is experiencing an off night. Not until sophomore Carl Belz was charged with his fifth personal foul a minute before the game ended did a substitute see action for the Orange and Black. Joe Burns, a rangy 6-4 sophomore, was the pick.

By the time he left, Belz had 13 points and 19 rebounds to his credit, the latter tops for the evening. Captain Don Davidson and Ken MacKenzie were high in the point column with 17 apiece; Whitely Fulcomer got 15 and Fred Perkins 14. Winning by a 77-67 count, the Tigers connected on 40% of their shots from the floor while holding the visitors to 34%.

Navy's floating man-to-man defense wasn't good enough to cope with the Princeton weave, which steadily managed to work a player in for a lay-up. These were not converted with much consistency, nor were the free tosses that resulted from repeated Navy fouls, but the Tiger attack none the less dominated the contest almost from the beginning.

From the see-saw opening minutes, the home team went into the lead for good when Fulcomer drove in for a lay-up at 5:46. It opened a 10-point bulge, was pared to 35-29 at the intermission and then controlled action throughout the second half. The losers did cut the margin to four points at one juncture but Princeton could invariably find the mark when it had to, and led by an

Coming and Going

When the Princeton University freshman hockey team found itself without a foe and in need of work last Saturday because the Connecticut ice storm cancelled a trip to play Tufts, Coach Pete Cook logically thought of the Princeton Hockey Club seniors, a private group of talented hockey veterans who take on all comers. The PHC players agreed that they needed work, too, so the match was scheduled following the varsity's ill-fated game with St. Lawrence.

It all seemed like a pretty good idea until Cook, playing with the seniors, discovered it wasn't easy to keep his mind on scoring for one team while trying to advise his freshmen how to defend against the attack. The affable coach began to wonder whether he was coming or going—and was confused no less by the fact that his son, whom he coaches, was battling against him for the Class of 1960.

During the scrimmage session, members of the university's junior varsity replaced some of the weary club seniors as well as some of the freshmen. So jayvees found themselves in Cook's boat, battling against each other. The PHC contended it won the practice contest, 4-2, but Cook wasn't sure if he should credit himself with a win, a loss or just a draw.

average of ten points throughout the final round.

Rebounding Tells the Tale. It was the Tigers' rebounding that told much of the story, as they collared 59 to 35 for the losers. Belz led Fulcomer, 19 to 17, and has shown consistent ability under the boards—a factor that should help to keep Princeton high in the Ivy standings this season.

Once again, however, the Orange and Black had difficulty when the opposition put on an all-court press. Three times, it lost possession on violations when bringing the ball in from back court, once passing directly to a Navy player for a "ducks-in-barrel" lay-up. Ability to work its way out of such a defense in a tight game—a trick the team could not learn last season without—Continued on Page 25 out Captain John DeVoe—may again hold the key to a shot at the Ivy title this season.

Temple Game Lost. Earlier in the week, one really outstanding player had run the Tigers a sufficiently merry chase so that his play broke what might otherwise have been a close game wide open. Guy Rodgers, a pleasure to watch in that he proved a "little guy" can be potential All-American material in this game of skyscrapers, scored 22 points during the 35 minutes he was in action and set up numerous others with his adept ball-handling.

The game was an even 23-all before the able visitors drew away, moving out to a 33-25 half-time margin. At one time in the second half, they held a 19-point bulge (67-48) before Princeton reserves got the better of the Temple bench and closed the gap to a 67-58 final.

Following Princeton's Wednesday night game against Rutgers at New Brunswick, the team has a nine-day layoff until it faces Illinois on the Big Ten quintet's home floor at Urbana. Contests against Purdue and Ohio State follow, with the Ivy opener set for Saturday, January 5, at Philadelphia against Penn.

Early contests in the Ivy League show that a revision in the standings unknown to the post-war era may be on tap for the new season. Harvard and Brown have invariably finished in second division, while Penn and Cornell have almost always been among the top four if they have not actually won the title. Last weekend, Harvard trimmed Cornell at Ithaca and Brown defeated Penn at Providence, winning over the Quakers for the first time in history.

GOALIE MISSED

Robinson's Loss Felt. Captain Dave Robinson missed both Princeton's hockey games last week because a cut sustained over his left eye nearly closed it. The injury occurred in the Providence game on December 8 but did not cause the swelling until after the contest ended.

His absence may have made a difference in the 4-3 overtime loss to Middlebury, but could hardly have stemmed the tide in a 7-1 defeat absorbed at the hands of St. Lawrence. The Tigers are now 0-4 on the season as they head into games this Thursday and Friday against Tufts and Northeastern at Lynn, Mass.

A Princeton rally created a third-period deadlock in the Middlebury contest, the Tigers coming from behind to score three times and send the game into sudden-death overtime. A goal at 1:34 of the extra session decided matters for the Vermont aggregation.

Fred Reynolds, John Todd and Kim Townsend scored for Princeton. Among the reserves who saw action for Middlebury was George Carey, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Carey of 245 Library Place.

A good St. Lawrence team, bulwarked by a number of Canadian players, took charge of the Tigers early Saturday afternoon. The visitors had a 2-0 lead after 20 minutes, were held even in the second round as the score went to 3-1 and then poured four goals into the nets in the final period.

Ed Torrey, assisted by Bob Kales, got the losers' only score. It was a rough contest, with the visitors having two men in the penalty box for charging simultaneously toward the end of the second period and then losing a third for unnecessary roughness after the whistle.

Referee Ed French, a veteran of Baker Rink action, received a severe cut on the forehead when clipped by the puck on a sharp shot shortly after the game opened. Three stitches were required and he was replaced by Bud Tibbals, Country Day School coach who was on hand to officiate in the Princeton Hockey Club-Princeton freshman game after the varsity contest.

SUCCESSFUL DEBUT

can be deceiving, and so can figures. For, though the scoreboard read 68-43 and Princeton High's sparkling new gymnasium was christened in successful style, the Little Tigers' victory over Hightstown last Friday was accomplished against a mediocre club and left Coach Tony Borzok still searching for a smooth, confident combination.

The PHS coach doesn't believe in miracles, but he indicated he has hopes his varsity will be ready by this Thursday to give tough Trenton High, a newcomer to the schedule, a good hattle. The Tornadoes will be here at 3:30 p.m. for the last PHS game before the Christmas break. (For a report on Princeton's cage contest Tuesday in Freehold, see below).

Against the visiting Rams from Hightstown, twice beaten by the Little Tigers last season and winless in two starts this fall, Princeton had a lot of trouble getting off the ground. The Rams, without a height advantage, were out-jumping and out-rebounding PHS and, had it not been for a woful inability to evolve any kind of plays, they might well have moved the ball close enough to out-score the home team.

As it was, the Little Tigers traded points for most of the opening quarter, finally grabbing an unimpressive 12-8 first-period margin. By halftime, Princeton led 29-14 and, despite a brief Hightstown rally after intermission, the PHS three-quarter lead was increased to 45-27. In the closing period, the Little Tigers picked up some steam, hit for 23 points and triumphed going away.

Ammerman, Borger Pace-Setters. Coach Borzok cleaned his bench of 12 on more than one occasion in an attempt to discover a quintet that will serve him in victorious fashion. Forwards Alan Ammerman and Captain Dick Borger, who clicked together off-and-on during the game, left no doubt that they must be used as often as possible. In helping PHS even its record at 1-1, Ammerman again set the pace with 21 markers (10 field goals, 1 free throw), with Borger adding 13.

Steve Hogarty, a jayvee flash last year but a non-scorer in Princeton's opening loss to Neptune, finally came through against Hightstown, registering 10 points for third-ranking honors. His height must be utilized, and it is likely Borzok will continue to play him much of the time, hoping he will get hot soon.

Bruce Larson worked his way into the box score with six points, a total matched by Nick Kovalakides, but they weren't using their dominating statures to dominate and center Bill Gallant also failed to live up to expectations. Guard Bryce Chase, out for the first time this year, looked like a playmaker Friday and might very well be a good shot, too (he tallied two for two). But only time will tell, and Borzok probably won't be sure of his top five until the New Year.

In the junior varsity action, the Little Tigers defeated Hightstown's juniors, 72-41, for their first win of the season. Anthony Boccanfuso led the winners with 22 points, followed by Ray Tamasi with 12.

HOCKEY GAMES SET

Juniors, Seniors to Play. Obligated to cancel their Saturday date with Lawrenceville School so that the Laurentians could meet Lehigh (and defeat the visitors, 10-0), the Princeton Hockey Club's juniors will get their first taste of competitive skating this Friday. At 5 p.m., on the Lawrenceville ice, they will meet Somerville, a regular opponent last season.

Meanwhile, the PHC seniors, after two successful appearances over the past weekend, will get set for their second annual tussle with the Princeton Skating Club All-Stars, scheduled for December 29. Last Saturday, in a Baker Rink scrimmage session, the older skaters upended the Princeton University frosh, 4-2, and, in Lawrenceville the next afternoon, they slaughtered Lehigh, 18-1.

TOURNAMENT OPENS

Eight Teams in Action. Seven residents of the Princeton area will play for their school teams in the ninth annual Lawrenceville Hockey Tournament, set to begin this Thursday afternoon at 2:15 in Baker Rink. Participants include the host school, defending champion St. Paul's, Taft, Deerfield, Choate, Nichols, Kimball Union and Trinity College School of Port Hope, Ontario.

Captain and goalie of the St. Paul's contingent is John Pearce, step-son of Mrs. Pearce of Elm Road, while Patrick Rulon-Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Rulon-Miller of Newlin Road, is a forward on the same team. St. Paul's is seeded first in the tournament.

Three members of the Lawrenceville team have Princeton backgrounds. They are Austin Sullivan, son of Mrs. Charles K. Agle of Westcott Road; Benny Hubby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hubby of Westcott Road; and Joe Budny of Trenton. Budny (in common with all others from this area playing in the tournament) is a Country Day School alumnus.

David H. Peterson is a member of the Taft team. He is the son of Frederick Peterson of Hopewell.

Kimball Union will meet Nichols at 2:15 Thursday in the first game, with the Taft-Lawrenceville and St. Paul's-Deerfield contests set for the Lavino Rink in Lawrenceville, weather permitting. Other action is set for Friday-afternoon, the championship semifinals will be held on Friday night, the consolation finals Saturday morning and the championship round Saturday at 2:30 in Baker Rink.

Dr. Charles R. Erdman of Boudinot Street is chairman of the committee arranging the event, with Harrison Fraker of Library Place serving as treasurer. The 120 participants will live in upperclass eating clubs on Prospect Street and eat in Osborn Field House, training-table headquarters for Princeton teams.

SECOND PHS WIN

Freehold loses by 20. Beginning to show some of the class Coach Tony Borzak has been seeking by exhibiting their best brand of basketball to date, the Little Tigers of Princeton High triumphed handily over Freehold, 62-42, on Tuesday afternoon. The Blue and White five led almost all the way on the Freehold court, taking a 15-10 first-quarter advantage and moving to a commanding 36-23 halftime margin.

For the first time in three games, the PHS record is now 2-1. Captain Dick Berger sparked the Little Tigers' attack, sinking eight field goals and six fouls for a 22-point total. His fellow forward, Alan Ammerman, was close behind with 18 markers, four of which were field goals and two free throws), while guard Dick Knowles contributed 7. For the losers, Ron Griffith, a freshman, was top producer with 12.

The varsity club "did every thing right" in handing the home team its second defeat in as many starts, but Coach George Povall's PHS jayvees were hard-pressed to increase their campaign record to a matching 2-1. Thanks primarily to Bob Fowler's key basket in the waning seconds, Princeton won the junior affair, 44-42. Johnny Buccanuso was the winners' top scorer with 13.

LETTERS AWARDED

PCD Players Cited. Members of the football and soccer teams at Princeton Country Day School who won letters during the last season were listed this week by their respective coaches, Lester Tibbals and Herbert McNaney. The awards will be made at the annual Christmas assembly this Thursday morning.

Football letter-winners were Webb Harrison and Harrison Fraker, Jr., co-captains; Joe Wright, Stuart Robson, Jr., Doug Rampona, Charlie Stuenkel, Karl Johnson, Buzzy Van Ripper, Bill Applegate, Perry Rodgers, Ned Barclay, Steve Crawford, Dick Rotnem, Fred Andrew, Andy Harris, Fritz Mock and John Postley.

Peterson, Joe Stevens, Huck Feltman, Bob Mueller and manager Bill Smith.

BOWLING NOTES

Princeton bowlers continued to sparkle in area competition this past week, winning two of nine team places in the eliminations round championship of the fourth annual Trentonian Handicap Doubles Bowling Classic. . . . Larry Golden and Jack Lucey, who figure to do well in the match game final round that will begin January 6, earned runner-up honors, just 68 pins behind the top pair. . . . Joe Baldino and Tom Cavatone wound up in the fifth position (among the nine qualifying teams) after finishing last by scoring from 10th place. . . . A third Princeton team, defending champions George Laird and Jim Lewis, also will see action in the tournament, come January, for they will form a 10th duo for the finals and attempt to protect their title against the challenging pairs. . . . Princeton bowlers, proved at the Princeton Recreation Center that his current scores are no flukes. . . . He earned high series honors (201-168-244 for 613) in the Major League, scored high individual game honors (220) in the Princeton "B" League and rolled another impressive single game (225) in the Industrial League. . . . Also performing well in the Major loop, as Frazee's Market (59 wins) increased its lead over the Key Shop (moving to second with 52 wins) and Tiger Garage (still at 48), were Cy Cornell, 256, Wally Brown, 221, Bill Flock, 219, Mick Sculerati, 215, Guido Zinetti, 214, Laird, 213, and Bill Klefer, 200.

Spirited competition between teams overshadowed individual performances in the "B" loop, which now finds only four games separating the first and seventh clubs. . . . The Plainsboro Lions went into a tie for the league leadership with the Monal Guardsmen (50 wins each), Boice Lumber (48) grabbed undisputed second place, Mail Electric climbed into a deadlock with OBC (46 apiece) and Titus Motors tied Cicelli Electric (42 each). . . . Behind Golden in the scoring column were Fred Lehnert, 210, Don Snyder, 203, George Stickle and Cavatone, 202 each, and Bill Dumble and Dick Edwards, 200 each. . . . The Industrial loop launched the second half of its season, and began a launching it was, what with Elmer Perantoni throwing his top PRC series (173-211-252 for 636) and Joe Eldridge recording his first 600-plus series (222-199-208 for 629). . . . Other pace-setters, with this pair and Golden (197 series), were Bill Sculerati, 212, Wally Brown, 210, and Lehnert, 201. . . . Nassau Del, with a high team series of 2607, took first place with Cable and Nassau Service (8 wins apiece), leaving the league's other five teams temporarily behind.

Princeton No. 1 (61 wins) and Ben Spitz (60) maintained their struggle for the top spot in the Tri-County Firemen's League, but attention was taken off the team standings by the fact that no less than 11 loop keglers registered 200-plus scores. . . . Ray Mount, who rolled Levensville to its lone victory of the week, led the marksmen with 235, followed by Ben Salvantini, 223, Bill Toole, 222, Les Luck, 214, Bucky Cupples, 207, Elmer McIlugh and Perantoni, 205 each, Earl Wilson, 204, Jack Lewis, 203, and Ray Whitlock and George Willis, 201 each. . . . In Princeton "A" League rivalry, Grover Lumber won six points from sixth-place Nassau Oil No. 1 and Tiger Garage took the same number from third-running Egoert Motors to tie for the first half championship with 84 wins apiece. . . . Dumble's 233 was high score for the week, while Bill Beahie registered best series (215-190-197 for 603).

Castoro GMC, well ahead with 84 wins, watched with glee this week as the Betty Wright Shop (73) fought to remain ahead of the Cranbury Bank (74). . . . Marilyn Lowe bowled top honors at 179-154, pursued by Jill DeVido, 172-167, Edna Thomas, 169, and Dot Wheeler, 166. . . . By way of an oddity, Pat Golden shot a progressive series, recording 117, 118 and 119 in her three games. . . . For the third straight week, Georgie Shuren was the Women's Industrial League's No. 1 kepler, this time costing 182-170, although Marilyn Silverstein, 188, Miss DeVido, 180, Betty Jane Harris, 179, Lillian Burroughs, 178, and Peg Brown, 175, were much in contention. . . . First National Bank (72) retained its grip on first place while Conover Motor Company

GRAND NIGHT FOR GRAND KNIGHTS: Seventy members of the Princeton Knights of Columbus and their guests gathered at the council home on Prospect Street Saturday to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the chapter's founding with a buffet dinner and dance. Honored guests were Edward Foley and Thomas Sullivan (shown shaking hands), charter members of the council. Also on hand for head table duty were (left to right) William Whitley and Joseph Stemmie, past Grand Knights; Raymond Hughes, Grand Knight; and Joseph Carlin of Moorestown, state treasurer of the Knights. Michael McKay, a third invited guest of honor and also a charter member, was unable to attend due to illness.

HUN TAKES THRILLER

George School Beaten. Jelling just in time to go home for the Christmas holidays with happy memories, the Hun School basketball team put on a spirited rally last Friday to edge George School, 35-31. Playing their first home game of the season, the Johnny Huns trailed from the opening whistle until midway through the final period, then took the contest on a pair of crucial free throws by Pete Foote.

George Cramer of Princeton was the afternoon's hero for the Red and Black, scoring 22 of his club's 36 points and spreading them throughout the game. But Foote was a key factor, too, collecting eight of his 10 points in the last eight minutes to spark Hun's winning surge.

In order, to even their campaign record at 1-1 and spoil George School's opener, the home-fores were required to exhibit some pressure ball. They were behind 17-14 at half-time and only caught up at 30-30 halfway through the fourth quarter. With 40 seconds remaining, they were obliged to effect a 40-second freeze to preserve the triumph.

The Hun Junior varsity set the stage for the variety, taking their first game in the preliminary against George's Juniors, by an identical 36-34 margin. Bob Nagpe's 13 markers led the way for the victors.

University Square Dance. A holiday square dance for the young people of the University community between 12 and 24 will be sponsored Friday, December 28, by the University League. The dance will be held from 8:30 p.m. to midnight.

University students staying in Princeton for the holidays are included among those invited to the dance, which will be held in the undergraduate student center. Jim Tempest will be the caller. Admission will be $1 per person.

Christmas Celebrated at N.J.N. P. L. A wide variety of events have been planned to mark the Christmas season at the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute. Various Christmas parties will be held in the cottages, and a Christmas dance will be held tonight for the adult patients. The movie, "The Glass Slipper" will be shown on Saturday, and the girl scouts from Somerville will entertain the patients Sunday afternoon.

A New Year's Dance will be held for the adult patients next Thursday, and a sight-seeing bus trip for the children has been planned. The grounds at the Institute have been festively decorated with lights, reindeer and sleighs, Santa-clauses and outdoor billiards.

Paynter Elected Trustee. Richard K. Paynter Jr. of Princeton, executive vice-president of the New York Life Insurance Company, has been elected a trustee of Colonial Williamsburg (Va.), Inc. It was announced by Winthrop Rockefeller, chairman of the board of trustees.

Mr. Paynter graduated with a bachelor of science degree from Princeton in 1925. Colonial Williamsburg, Inc., serves the historical and educational purposes of the organization carrying out the restoration of 18th-Century Williamsburg, one-time capital of the Virginia Colony.

News of the Churches

PAGEANT-TIME

Come, All Ye Faithful! It's the season of the Christmas pageant. Sunday Schools are crowded with shepherds burnoosed with last summer's swimming towel, magi striding regally in elderly, but still flowing, red velvet evening gowns, and angels balancing tinsel halos. Choir-boys who are the devil's own imps suddenly become starched and pure with voices as clear and angelic as Christmas midnight.

This Sunday, the children of Calvary Baptist will present their program during the 9:45 Sunday School hour. Also at 9:45 Methodist children will give for the second time a series of tableaux, "The Life of Christ in Living Pictures," directed by Mrs. Charles W. Marker. (They have already presented the tableaux to the women of the church at their December meeting.)

"Why the Chimes Rang", a classic of Christmas plays, will be given this Sunday at 4:30 p.m. at the Second Presbyterian Church. Sunday School children at First Baptist will combine a Christmas program with a party this Sunday at 1 p.m.

At the Union Presbyterian service this Sunday at 8 p.m., Witherspoon Church, the Sunday School will give a nativity pageant following a Candlelight processional. Janet Tucker, Linda Billet, Norman Gaskins, Michael Floyd and Andre Newsome will take the leading roles under the direction of Martha Moore. Mrs. James Carson, Mrs. Bayard Jordan, Jr., and the Rev. David McAlpin.

The Christmas program at Friends First Day School, to be given this Sunday at 10 a.m., will tell the Hanukkah story of the Maccabean revolt and the Christmas story of the Nativity.

Youth groups of the Kingston Presbyterian church will give a Christmas Community service over the Methodist tower amplifier at 6:30 p.m. Christmas Eve. The play, "Why the Chimes Rang" will be given this Sunday at 7:30 p.m. by the young people of the church. Hymns and carols will be sung afterwards.

At a Christmas Eve Family Service, children of Messiah Lutheran Sunday School will give a program called "Service of Lights". The program will start at 7:30 p.m. and end with Christmas Vespers.

Unitarian children had the distinction of giving their program before the whole congregation at the 11 a.m. service last Sunday. Their traditional offering each year is the three birth stories of Buddha, Confucius and Jesus.

The last of the Christmas pageants will be presented on Sunday, December 30 at 4 p.m. by the children of Trinity parish.

will mark the end of the first semester for the English classes which have been meeting weekly.

Entertainment at the party will be provided by the class members who will tell about Christmas traditions in their native countries, and punch and cookies will be served. The program has been planned by Miss Marie Klein. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ruchel and Dominick Zullo.

A new term will begin January 10 and will include both afternoon and evening classes. Citizenship classes are scheduled, as well as classes in English for beginners, intermediate and advanced student.

The volunteer teachers are: Mrs. Frank Bache, Mrs. Leland A. Clark, Mrs. Richard Colamn, Miss Elsie Eusebetti, Miss Becky Howell, Mrs. Margaret Challen, Miss Marie Klein, Miss Mary Lewis, and Miss Helen Palumbo. Anyone interested in the classes can register at 202 Nassau Street, or call 1-1239-W.

Stratton to Leave Scout Post. Leslie C. Stratton of 59 Shady Brook Lane will retire April 1 as national director of public relations for the Boy Scouts of America. Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, chief scout executive of the National Council, announced from the national headquarters, New Brunswick, that Mr. Stratton will leave the post upon reaching the mandatory retirement age of 65.

"Certainly there have been few people who over the years have contributed more to the growth and development of scouting than Leslie Stratton," Dr. Schuck stated. "As our national director of public relations for 21 years, he built good will for, and public understanding of, our movement. During his career, he has watched the membership of the organization grow from 1,000,000 to nearly 4,500,000."

Miscellany. In last week's issue, an item in the Borough Council story indicated that the Borough had refused to accept Wilson Road as part of its municipal street system because the road does not meet construction specifications. Actually, the Western Corporation, developing the Wilson Road area, merely asked Council to approve the road so the contractor can be paid and released from the job. Application for the Borough to take over the street will not be made until all improvements have been completed by the developer.

Philip D. Kopper, son of Mrs. Florence D. Kopper, 44 Rollingmead, has been elected to the editorial board of the "Yale Daily News". Mr. Kopper is a sophomore and a candidate for a Bachelor of Arts degree.

Army Specialist Third Class Lester L. Carlsen, 22, son of Borkel Carlsen, Route 1, Sunset Hill, has participated in a field training exercise with the 6th Infantry Regiment in Berlin recently. Mr. Carlsen, who arrived overseas in July, entered the Army in February 1955. A graduate of Fort Hamilton High School, he is a cook in the regiment's Company D.

Alfred M. Niese, son of Mrs. Anne B. Niese, 7 Deer Path, has been named to the news staff of Targum, undergraduate newspaper at Rutgers University. A sophomore and sociology major, Niese graduated from Princeton High School.

CALL YOUR PLUMBER

TO FURNISH AND INSTALL IT!

Your plumber is an expert. He will help you to pick the correct size for present and FUTURE needs. He will give you a SAFE installation. Many cases of fires, explosions and gas leakage are due to failure to use a plumber.

VISIT our SHOWROOM--

You wouldn't think of selecting a new suit of clothes from a catalog. So why pick that new heater, sink, bathroom set or boiler from a catalog, when you can actually see the item in our showroom? And while you're here, ask us about Dishwashers, Garbage Disposals, Summer Air Conditioners and space - saving Radiant Baseboard Radiators. COME IN THURSDAY EVENING WITH YOUR WHOLE FAMILY, WHEN OUR TRAINED STAFF IS FREE FROM DUTIES WITH TRADE ACCOUNTS. SHOWROOM ALSO OPEN MONDAY TO FRIDAY — 8 A. M. TO 5 P. M.
